Philadelphias yesterday, who batted the ball all over the field. The Brooklyns shut the Washingtons out in a clean-cut game. After losing three straight games to Ewing's men, the Clevelands finally managed to win from them, and as the Baltimores beat Boston by a run, Cincinnati's lead was cut down to thirty points over the champions. Chicago took another ball at Pittsburgh's expense, and St. Louis beat Louisville. The results: Philadelphia, 15; New York, 9.

During the first six innings of yesterday's game at Eastern Park Payne and Mercer gave an exhibition of pitching such as is rarely seen by two opposing twiriers. During that stage of the same Payne excelled in only one respect. on balls, there wasn't a particle of wildness on the inning that Payne was put to the test, and he proved master of the situation. As a starter, Joyce sent a single to left field, and McGuire made a similar hit, going to second on the throw in. The faithful rooters threw up their hands with horror, as they expected the Senators to settle matters in a hurry. Payne put on steam, and all Brown could do was to raise a short fly to the infield. There was a shout of joy when Cartwright struck out, and as Lush sent a bounder to Shoch, Payne was a hero in the eyes of the rooters. When the time arrived for both teams to make a final effort there was but one pitcher in the game, and that was Payne. Two hits and a base on balls brought in the first run in the seventh inning, and three singles, a base on balls, and Lachance's home run clinched the game in the eighth inning. It becomes more evident every day that the Brooklyns drew a prize when they secured Jones. In the ninth inning the young outfielder made a play that accumed almost impossible. The Washingtons, who fight to the very end, made a slight raily. With one out, Brown on second, and Cartwright on first, Lush glammed a victional liner near the right-field Meacheries. While chasing the ball Jones fell, and while on the ground caught the ball just as it was about to touch the grass and, rising quickly, doubled up Brown at second. Corcoran was sick and Shoch filled his place nicely and also made two pretty sacrifices. The score:

The local magnate informed Mr. Schmelz that as he had heard that the Washington Club was considering a dicker with the Phila-delphia Club in which Joyce and Selbach were to be exchanged for two of the Quaker players. the New York Club was also anxious to secure the two men. Just what transpired after the opening remark by Mr. Freedman, Manager

Sun at Eastern Park yesterday afternoon, refused to divulge. He said:
"To be candid, if the Washington Club decides to exchange or sell any of its players, the New Yorks will get the preference, as it would please me to see a winning club in the metropolis. An offer was made to me by Mr. Freedman for the two mentioned players, but as the conference was understood to be confidential. I cannot say whether Mr. Freedman was willing to purchase the players' release, or whether he wanted to make an exchange."

There will be another conference between the two men to-day.

Adolph A. Langer of the Arcanum Wheelmen was elected temporary Chairman, and Edward Hart of the Niantic Wheelmen served as secretary. Chairman Langer, who is a prime mover in the new organization, gave a full outline of its objects, among which; was the holding of an annual twenty-five-mile road race over the Hudson County Boulevard that is expected in time to eclipse the Irvington-Miliburn road race. Other objects of the Associated Clubs will be to further social intercourse and secure privileges which would not be otherwise forth-coming from the authorities to a single body of wheelmen. After the name Associated Cycling Clubs of Hudson County was adopted, nominating, constitution, and by-laws committees were appointed. The next meeting will be held Aug. 10, at which time permanent officers are to be circuted. The clubs represented were the Cho Wheelmen, Iafayette Wheelmen, Niantio Wheelmen, Business Men's Cycling League, and Hudson County Wheelmen, Arcanum Wheelmen, Business Men's Cycling League, and Hudson County Wheelmen, Arcanum Wheelmen, Business Men's Cycling League, and Hudson County Wheelmen, Arcanum

NOTES.

The bicycle clubs in Brooklyn have long felt the need of a good bicycle track near the city. At the present time there is some talk of building a bicycle track at Ambrose Park.

A bicycle parade will be held at Newport on Saturday, Aug. 18. A bloycle parade will be held at Newport on Saturday, Aug. 18.

The Alpine Cyclers of Jersey City will bold a race meet at the Guttenberg race track next month.

A party of members of the Century Wheelmen of this city will leave on Aug. 15 for a bour to the Delaware Water Gap, returning on Aug. 23.

E. S. Edwards of the Century Wheelmen is in training to lower the road record from this city to Philadelphia.

On Aug. 4 Julius Kumpa of the Turner Cyclers of Rudson county and William Gabriels of Union Hill will attempt to establish a new tandem record from New York to Philadelphia.

Gaudaur and Rogers Win Easily at Hall-

HALIFAX, July 29 .- The second day of the Halifax summer carnival attracted many visiters, and this afternoon 20,000 people saw the boat races in the harbor. The water was smoother than yesterday, and the conditions could not have been surpassed. The great event was the double scullers' race for $500 and the world's championship. Casey and Gookin of Boston, Bubear and Barry of England, Guadaur and Rogers of Toronto, and Durnan and Hackett of Toronto entered, and all started except the Boston pair. Gaudaur and Rogers were quickest away, rowing thirty-eight to the ninute, and before one hundred yards they had placed a full length of clear water between them and the English pair, who were rowing a thirty-four stroke. Durnan and Hackett were dropping steadily behind. The leaders were rowing well together, but they lost somewhat by steering out of their course. Their speed was so great, nowever, that this made little difference in the result, and they turned the stake boat five or six seconds before Bubear and Harry. When both pairs had straightened away for home the Englishmen were fully eight seconds behind. Within half a mile of the finish Gaudaur and Rogers slowed down their stroke to 3d per minute. They were rowing in an apparently easy style, but at the same time their lead was steadily increasing. The clean, sweeping stroke of the leaders was particularly noticeable, and though the Englishmen were also rowing in fine style, the contrast was marked. Gaudaur and Rogers won in 18 minutes 44% seconds.

In the athletic section of the carnival Tom Burke of the Boston Athletic Association captured the three events in which he took part tonight. He won the 150-yard trial heat in 154 seconds and the final in 154 seconds. He won the $500-yard run in 1134 seconds and the 600-yard run in 1134 seconds and the sports and gave the Boston champion an ovation. rowing a thirty-four stroke. Durnan and

JEM MITCHEL ASSERTS HIMSELF.

He Is Not Prepared to Be Benten by Any Doubtful Amateurs Next Saturday. The publication of the entries yesterday for the Metropolitan Association track and field ment, and the absence of humidity in the air was more than counterbalanced by a threatening cloud of protests which may burst any time between now and Saturday.

The storm centre reached an exciting stage at the office of one of the officials yesterday where a caucus of experts got so exhibarated on doubtwinners of next Saturday's tourney at Bergen Point. The guessing went on harmoniously for some time until one critic ventured the opinion that Herty of the New West Side A. C. could put the shot over forty-two feet, and that less than that would

C. could put the shot over forty-two feet, and that less than that would win. Just then the light from all the rear windows was shut out abruptly by a huge form which advanced ponderously to the front. The cause of the temporary eclibse proved to be big Jem Mitchel, the evergreen weight-thrower who has passed through the Gaelic A. A., Manhattan A. C., Pastime A. C., New Jersey A. C., New York A. C., and back again to the Pastime A. C., without turning a hair. He caught the drift of the conversation, and having camped himself comfortably on four chairs, he came out with this startling ultimatum:

"If this man Herty is one, two, three, I will protest him."

"On what grounds?" inquired an official.

"On what grounds?" echoed Mitchel with an air of injured innocence which softened the ice in the filter. "On the grounds, of course, that he is a professional."

The last word fell like a bomb among the crowd. All who could squeeze their heads out on the front windows courted a reviving breeze from City Hall Park, and the others crawled out of the room limply like broken-down camels, on whom the last straw had been placed.

Mitchel himself remained unruffled with the exception of a little mild surprise at finding that such a simple remark could cause so much hysterics. He was absorbed in the study of what he considers a bettar joke, which is based on a rumor that he is to be protested in due course by the Knickerbooker A. C. "The notion is too ridiculous to be considered seriously now," said big Jem. "but if they have the nerve to question my eligibility I have enough up my sieeve to burst their whole team. I am satisfied to wait, however, and if I find that any slip of paper concerning me is handed to the referce I will have a roil of manuscript ready for him that will open the eyes of the athletic world."
